Can you choose the gender of your child pets answers com

If you are asking whether you can do something to make sure your unborn child is one gender or the other, the answer is no, not really. There are many myths about pills or potions you can take to ensure that you have a male or a female, but these products do not work, nor does engaging in sex on a certain day or eating certain foods. There is currently no reliable way to guarantee what gender your child will be.
